Priory Hospital
Lincolnshire
Secure mental health services
Priory Hospital Lincolnshire is a Low Secure service for males with mental illnesses and personality disorders. Located in Gainsborough in Lincolnshire, it has 28 beds to support those who are detained under the Mental Health Act.

Lincolnshire provides a full treatment pathway for those requiring rehabilitation and we focus on patients learning new skills, embedding these in everyday life, and maintaining the skills that are necessary for community living.

Treatment programme

At Lincolnshire we believe that access to the community and opportunities for social interaction outside of a hospital setting, are a key part of recovery. Patients are encouraged to access courses at local colleges, attend local leisure centres and utilise other community-based activities.

When appropriate in their care pathway, patients will be supported in developing their skills for future employment, including developing CVs, using the internet and computers and taking part in voluntary work.

Patients participate in a daily and weekly community group meeting whereby they will agree and plan daily and weekly activities on-site and within the community.

Community activities include:

- Trips to local areas
- Visits to the local village, local café, cinema, theatre and bowling alley
- Community and outreach programmes to attend education providers and placements

We recognise that the people in our care are part of a wider circle of family, friends and networks which are important to them. We aim to work in partnership with them to ensure that we provide the right service for them but also to support them in their own right as carers.

Family carers are encouraged to develop good contact arrangements with the ward manager, social worker and clinical team.
Our team

Lincolnshire’s full time specialist multidisciplinary team (MDT) comprises of:

The therapy and treatment that our team provides aims to optimise each patient’s psychological, occupational and social wellbeing through both individual and group work.
